

Our partners

“The Lefebvre-Daloz Compétences/RH partnership allows for the association's members to benefit from free training courses (project management, sustainable development, etc.) to enhance their skills portfolio when they return from field assignments, and to gauge their experiences with the private sector. This partnership has lasted 10 years and is directly in line with our corporate social responsibility policy. Our training courses are by all means enriched by the presence of participants from the humanitarian sector. This partnership encourages bridges between the private and nonprofit sectors.

How we work

There are 4 stages to become a member:

Our mission is based on mutual solidarity: each member can become a resource person for the association.

- 1 - First meeting during a one-on-one interview, an information meeting or a networking event.
- 2 - Association membership, and start of a personalized support program.
- 3 - Project validation and network access, assessment, coaching, group workshops, meetings, job-seekers' group...
- 4 - Realization of the new professional project, the member becomes a resource person for RH (sharing experience, volunteering, donating...).

“ Since 2002, Résonances Humanitaires has focused its attention on the delicate transition period following the return from humanitarian field missions.

For some, meeting with RH is received as a welcome break from their commitments abroad. For others, it's a time to consider a career change or find support in their job search.

To date, there are more than 3,000 ambassadors helping, wherever they may be, to spread the word about the values and diverse skills of humanitarians. Over 150 new members join us every year. Many thanks to them!

I would also like to thank all our partners, NGOs and companies who, in this age of globalization, place their trust in us and help us to preserve spaces for listening and mutual support, adapted to the uniqueness of each individual's journey.

Let's continue to make time for each other!”

“ For over 22 years, Résonances Humanitaires has been instilling its passion for humanitarian commitment and transforming this expertise into a powerful lever for every career path. Our mission? Listening, guiding and supporting with kindness and solidarity. And it's all thanks to the energy and generosity of a remarkable network of volunteers who are the driving force behind our action.”

Abdel-Rahman GHANDOUR - Chairman of RH
With 30 years' experience in international solidarity and diplomacy, Abdel-Rahman has held senior positions in international organizations such as the ICRC, Doctors Without Borders and the United Nations. Author of individual and collective socio-political works, he is multilingual and has lived in 15 countries. In 2023, he joined RH as a volunteer on the welcoming team, became facilitator of the remote jobseekers' group, was elected to the Board in 2023, and appointed Chairman in June 2024.

“ After a difficult initial period of unemployment, I came to RH with a single goal: to improve the conditions of my return from expatriation. The association rose to the occasion, making me feel understood and supported. I interacted with different people in the workshops and the job seekers' group, thus gaining a different perspective on my professional future. I even made the most of my job-hunting period to share some of my skills: the door to RH is always open to welcome talent. The association's conviviality and listening capacity are its strong points, which helped me to bounce back quickly and explore new horizons.”

Agathe B., RH member

Health & Solidarity Program Manager at Solidarité Sida in Paris. Previously in charge of monitoring and evaluation of ACTED's activities in Mali and Niger.

“ RH is a real community of peers for humanitarians returning from missions abroad. It creates connections all throughout the support process and even outside of it. I myself took part in the association's virtuous circle, having gone from beneficiary to volunteer to secretary of the association in just a few years. For me, RH embodies the art of receiving and giving: mutual support based on a strong sense of complicity!”

Emmanuelle L., RH volunteer

Board member and entrepreneur at CoopPaname. Previously consultant for the United Nations migration agency in Haiti.
